

ABSTRACT

A securing strap includes a biased coil with a filament and a strap end. The strap end is mounted inside an electronic device such as a cellular telephone. The biased coils is incorporated into an accessory, such as a holster or an armband. The cellular telephone can be attached to or removed from the accesorry, however, it stays secured by the strap.

S:\TW\METHOD AND APPARATUS FOR SECURING A CELLULAR
TELEPHONERELATED.wpd